NOTICE TO THE PROFESSION

SOUTH PEACE FAMILY MEDIATION INITIATIVE (NORTHERN NAVIGATOR)

Purpose

To describe the process for the referral of family cases to mediation for those cases coming before the Provincial Court in Fort St. John, Dawson Creek, and Chetwynd.¹

Notice

1. Until August 31, 2016, the process for family mediation referrals is:
 - a. At the first appearance, the presiding Judge will, where appropriate, direct the parties to the Northern Navigator (“Navigator”)² for an intake meeting and stand the case down for the meeting to take place during the court day.
 - b. The Navigator will meet separately with each party to inquire as to the appropriateness of a referral to mediation (including via Family Justice Services (remote), Legal Aid, private mediation, and the South Peace Community Resource Society Mediation Program), and consider what other service referrals would benefit the parties (including legal advice). The Navigator completes a Navigator Summary Form which is delivered to the Court Clerk.

² The Navigator, Kaitlin Fulton, is an employee of SPCRS. She has an Associate of Arts in Criminology (Okanagan College), a Bachelor of Arts in Justice Studies and Master of Arts in Conflict Analysis and Management (Royal Roads University) and Certificate in Interpersonal Mediation and Negotiation, Justice Institute of BC). She is a member of the Associate Family Roster of Mediate BC Society. She is also a family support and supervised visitation worker for SPCRS and previously provided counselling, support, and advocacy to high risk aboriginal youth.

- c. Cases will be recalled by the Court who will consider the submissions of the parties/counsel and the Navigator Summary Form. If appropriate, the Court may make an Order to Mediation, in which case the parties will be directed to the Navigator who will assist with arrangements for mediation. The Court will also set a subsequent court date for the case.
 - d. Mediation is conducted either by a private mediator of the parties' choice at their own expense, a Northern Navigator roster mediator charging fees on a sliding scale, a mediator provided by the Legal Services Society, or by a Family Justice Counsellor using distance mediation. The parties may be required to attend pre-mediation sessions plus a minimum of two two-hour joint sessions with the mediator. The mediator will complete a Mediator Summary Form and deliver it to the Court Registry, and provide copies to the parties and the Navigator.
 - e. At the next appearance date, the parties will advise the Court of the results of mediation and the Court will make the appropriate orders and directions.
 - f. Unresolved issues will be addressed through the usual Court process.
 - g. Parties are encouraged to seek legal advice at any point in the process.
2. A Northern Navigator Workflow is attached as Appendix "A".
 3. The Initiative will be subject to an evaluation, and the input of the Bar will be sought.
