Introductory Statement

This picklist is a revision of one produced in 2017. Developed through a process of wide collaboration within the B.C. justice system, it reflects recent amendments to the Criminal Code as well as feedback from judges and appellate rulings on the wording of some conditions in the original version. However, the headings and numbering scheme will be familiar to users of the previous version as they have not changed.

Judges and judicial justices always have discretion in deciding how the law should be applied. They may or may not choose to use the picklist wording.

This picklist may be used in all B.C. Provincial Court locations, but local variations of “Red Zone” conditions are available for Vancouver, Victoria, Surrey, and Kelowna, in a separate document.
